

...Richmond College...

Founded in 1832, Richmond College has now completed its seventy-seventh year. The College has a greater endowment, a larger and stronger faculty, better equipment, more departments of study, and more students than ever before in its long and honorable history.

The campus is a beautiful park of thirteen acres, in the best residential section of Virginia's capital city. Excellent advantages are afforded by the historic city itself in its libraries, museums and public lectures. The College equipment consists of ten buildings that cost over $200,000; a modern library of 15,000 books catalogued for ready access; working laboratories in physics, chemistry, biology, psychology and drawing; a gymnasium, and abundant provision for students' health and comfort. A single item will indicate that our students actually make use of these generous facilities. The library record shows that students took to their rooms last session nearly 5,000 volumes.

FACULTY.

Charles Henry Winston, M. A., LL. D.,
Professor of Astronomy.
Frederick William Boatwright, M. A., LL. D.,
Professor of French and German.
Robert Edwin Gaines, M. A., Litt. D.,
Professor of Mathematics.
.....
Professor of History and Political Science.
William Asbury Harris, M. A., Ph. D.,
Professor of Greek Language and Literature.
William Heth Whitsitt, M. A., D. D., LL. D.,
Professor of James Thomas, Jr., School of Philosophy.
John Calvin Metcalf, M. A.,
Professor of English Language and Literature.

FACULTY.

Eugene Cook Bingham, Ph. D.,
Professor of Chemistry and Geology.
R. E. Loving, M. A., Ph. D.,
Professor of Physics.
William P. Dickey, M. A.,
Professor of Latin.
Robert A. Stewart, M. A., Ph. D.,
Associate Professor of Modern Languages.
H. A. Van Landingham, M. A.,
- Associate Professor of English.
Carroll M. Baggarly, B. A., M. D.,
Instructor in Biology.
Frank Z. Brown, S. B. E. E.,
Instructor in Drawing.

LAW FACULTY.

Walter Scott McNeill, B. A., Ph. D., LL. B.,
Professor of Law.
Ernest Mayo Long, LL. B.,
Associate Professor of Law.
Christopher B. Garnett, M. A., B. L.,
Associate Professor of Law.
JOHN RANDOLPH TUCKER, LL. B.,
Associate Professor of Law.
THE LIBRARY AND MUSEUM.
Charles Hill Ryland, D. D.,
Librarian and Curator.
THE GYMNASIUM.
E. A. Dunlop, B. A., LL. B.,
Director of Athletics.

COLLEGE OF LIBERAL ARTS.

Here are taught English, History, Mathematics, Modern and Ancient Foreign Languages, Philosophy, the leading Natural Sciences and Public Speaking. In the English department students are taught to write good English and to appreciate the beauties of our incomparable literature. There were 225 students in this department last session.

LAW SCHOOL.

The law faculty consists of four professors, and the course of study leading to the degree of LL. B. covers two years. Charges are lower than at any other law school in Virginia. Inquiry should be addressed to Dr. W. S. McNeill, Mutual Building, Richmond.

FEES.

The College fees of a student for session of nine months vary from $75 to $95, payable part in September and part in February. Table board costs $11 a month. All living expenses, including board, less than $15 a month.

ADMISSION OF WOMEN.

Women eighteen years of age or older, who are prepared to enter the higher classes of Richmond College, are admitted to candidacy for the degrees of B. A., B. S. and M. A. on the same terms with young men. There were twenty-six young women matriculated last session, three of whom won degrees.

A WORD TO PARENTS.

Educational-experts declare that the city of Richmond offers an environment highly favorable to college work. With the advantage of such surroundings the Faculty of Richmond College undertake not only to teach the usual subjects of a college course, but to educate men and fit them for the duties of life. We will not knowingly accept your son if he has formed bad habits or is not prepared for college work. If we accept him, we undertake to become acquainted with him, to introduce him to the world of culture, and to help him build character. If he does not respond to our efforts, we will return him to his home before he has had much opportunity to waste his own time or his father's money. The President and Faculty believe heartily in looking after the interests of the individual student, and their organization for this purpose in 1909-'10 is better than ever before.

*Session Begins September 23, 1909,
and Closes June 15, 1910.*

Catalogue and Information Furnished by

President F. W. BOATWRIGHT,
Richmond, Virginia